

The right partner to help your business succeed

Moser Consulting is a technology services consulting company providing the talent, tools and technology to support businesses that rely on data to gain a competitive advantage. From database management through application development to managed services, Moser provides best-practices expertise to companies engaged in healthcare, insurance, manufacturing and finance.

Moser employs 200 professionals in Indianapolis and Baltimore

With more than two decades of successful projects, Moser Consulting has assembled an impressive collection of capabilities. Moser's experienced personnel rely on proven processes to deliver effective, reliable and secure technology solutions that achieve business results. Moser Consulting believes that technology is a tool to achieve your objectives regardless of its location; in your data center, in the cloud, or on mobile.

In 20 years Moser has grown from the vision of Ty and Paula Moser, into a successful information technology company. Moser has been named by CIO Review Magazine as one of the Top 20 Most Promising Big Data Companies in the US, and has been named on the Best Places to Work lists in both Indianapolis and Baltimore. Moser gets the highest quality IT professionals, welcomes them like family, connects them with opportunities, and lets them do what they do best: Produce innovative solutions to technology problems.

Moser Consulting specializes in large-scale database and infrastructure solutions. We collaborate with clients in government agencies and private organizations to identify opportunities, manage resources, address challenges, and transform organizations. Whether we're designing and implementing a solution for your business, solving a problem or offering daily IT support, our primary focus is your success. The entire Moser team is committed to bringing you state-of-the-art, best practice technological support.

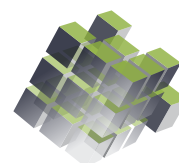

Big Data

Big Data is a platform consisting of tools, methods and approaches that allows customers to work with data in ways that were not previously possible. Simply put, Big Data will separate you from the competition.

Managed Services

Managed Services are outsourced information technology services delivered at a predictable monthly cost, reducing risk and increasing performance of the client's business technology investment.

IT Consulting Services

Our industry-proven experts will advise you on using technology to achieve your business goals. Moser can provide you with management, implementation, deployment and administration of your systems.
